VINEGAR BITTERS

Hundreds of Thousands WHAT ARE THEY?

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spied and sec-ened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appeti-ces" "Bestorers," ac., that lead the tippler on to from the Native Boots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulnatts. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and A LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

§$100 will be given for an incurable case, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammintory and Chronic Rheuma-tism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Billoan, Remittent and intermittent Fevers, Disenaces of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Disenses are caused by Virinted Blood, which is generally produced by detangement of the Disentive Organo, DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Patin in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Ernetations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Billious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the obsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpidliver and bowels, which reader them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

Criminal Labor. The question of criminal labor or the employment of the criminals of the country in useful work is one which deserves the careful attention of the jurist and the political economist. The crimi nal is by all civilized jurisprudence deprived of his liberty. The first object of this is security to society-to life and property. The second is punishment of the illdoer. In so far as the first object is concerned there appears to be little reason for questioning. The second is open to very gravedoubt, and it is to it that we would more particularly address ourselves. For the two reasons stated we shut the criminal up in a public prison, where he is maintained for the most part in idleness, at great expense to the commonwealth. Thus doubtful bodily punishment is inflicted on the criminal, and unequivocal punishment, in the form of greatly augmented taxation, is inflicted upon the body politic. Honest, industrious men are taxed, and that right heavily, for the maintenance of lazy, ablebodied vagabonds who prefer to live a life of lawlessness rather than earn an honest living. In so far as the safety of society is concerned the object of confining the criminal is doubtless attained; but the question arises whether it is not purchased too dear. That the second object is but indifferently attained, if at all can hardly be controverted. The neerdo-well is provided with comfortable quarters, warm clothing, good, wholesome food, the very best of medical attendance; and to these are often added planty of reading, some amusements, and spiritual consolation, And our Grand Juries are careful to periodically scrutinize the prisons in order to see that the condition and treatment of the inmates are in every way unexceptionable. Virtuous poverty is left uncared for te pine in rags and aqualid misery in dingy garrat or noisome cellar; while criminal laziness fares sumptuously every day. Our notions of justice involve the most jealous solicitude for the comfort and health of the criminal; and we are not prepared to assert that it is wrong. But where does the punishment come in? To a majority of criminals does such treatment really partake of the nature of punitive justice? We are not going to advocate the denial of healthful cleanliness and comfort. Neither are we going to advocate the triangle the cat-o'-nine tails with all the disgusting accompaniments But we are going to advocate the steady, systematic and economic employment of criminals upon work which will pay for their maintenance and, if possible, for the expense of their prosecution and conviction. It is criminality, not virtue, that should be made to pay the expense of the administration of criminal justice. Why should the crimical be subjected to less severe toil than the good? Why should not he be made to work hard every working day-bard enough to be self-sustaining—hard enough to make his lot one of salutary punishment? And this brings us to a wide polemical We have ever pronounced against the chain-gang system as practised in this country,—regarding it as calcu-lated to harden and debase the criminal and demoralize the community, two results the very reverse of those true justice seeks. The question is, How shall convict labor be made effective as a punishment, and remunerative to the State, and, at the same time, be freed from the objections above hinted at? Here is the crux of our subject. We Here is the crux of our subject. We are disposed to think that these objects will be best attained through the system of convict labor within four walls. The penitentiary system of Canada would appear to be not altogether illadapted attention of Buyers. to that end. The writer has not the advantage of that practical experience which can only be acquired by actual life in the pecitentiary; but he is led to believe that the Canadian system is susceptible of such improvements as would render it capable of meeting the wants of the country and the views we have been enunciating. British Colum-bia will soon have her Penitentiary. Let it be the study of our jurists and political economists to perfect the system. FOUND

LUMLEY FRANKLIN ... Yates street. ... Wild sell at 1: o'clook, at Sa'esrooms, cho'ce parcels of City and Country Property. THE US WAR STEAMBR TENNESBEE ... There is scarcely room for doubt the U mission appointed to examine into and Ottawa barge canal.

S war steamer Tennesse while on her way to San Domingo with the Comreport upon the value of that Island, has gone down at sea. She sailed from New York city on the 19th of January; was signs, led two days off Cape Hatteras, and should have arrived at San Domingo in five days after leaving New York Twenty-nine days have flown and she has not been heard from. Among the Commissioners was Mr Wade, an ex-President of the United States. The loss of life—if loss there has been will probably reach 500. A correspondent of the San Francisco Call, writing of the expedition the day before the steamer sailed, says—The Presidential San Domingo Commissioners are bere and, if gossips may be believed, are having a high old time of it at the Astor House, where they have a suite of par lors, live stupendou-ly, and treat a hose of political friends with ambassadoral exuberance at the Government's expense. They are to leave in the Tennessee to-morrow; and as one hundred Tennesses to -burnow; and as observe been laid in as 'medicine' for the party, and fully as many of the commissioners' convivus friends invited to go on a 'bender' as the cubics and berths of the vessel will accome cabine and berths of the vessel will accoms modate, we may naturally expect to witness on this occasion some diplomacy of the most remarkable description. It is obvious that the affair is a grand frolick; and 'free spread' for as many of the President's friends and relations as could be squerzed into the vessel. There will be few sober men in the Tennessee during her absence, depend upon tennessee during ner avsence, depend upon it. The creware not likely to get much in the shape of extres; but if I may judge from present appearances everything else belonging to the expedition will be shaff seas over before Sandy Hook is out of sight, and sall the sober performances of this political circustroupe in West India waters will be a marvel. "It's so nice," as I heard one of the expense. WHOSE INAGE AND SCPER CRIPTION HATH IT? The Globe's Ottawa correspondent intimated that the Dominion Government are entitled to no credit for extending the boundaries of the Dominion to the Pacific, wherenpout the Ottawa Times very properly takes its contemporary to take, and points out that to the Government of Causa at least a share of the credit properly belongs. It says:—

'British Columbia will undoubtedly som become a portion of the Dominion, and some credit is also due to the Government for the successful results of the conference which successful results of the conference which took place last Spring between them and the British Columbian Delegates. The terms agreed upon then were such as have generally proved acceptable to the people of Canada as well as to our fellow subjects upon the Pacific slope. The Delegates publicly declared that when they came here they were not prepared to meet with men of such not prepared to meet with men of such statesmanlike qualities and broad enligh enea views, and after a few interviews with the Government they felt that they might wilh perfect confidence enter into a more intimate connexion with a people whose rulers were not only statesmen of ability, but of lofty, high toned patriotism; and to these state-men the credit of establishing the Dominion men the credit of establishing the Dominion will be given, not only now but for all time

THAT'S RIGHT! -In an article on British Columbia coming into the Confederated Empire, the Ottawa Tines says. "The next thing to be done is to construct a railway from the shores of the Atlantic to those of the Pacific shores of the Atlantic to those of the Pacific, through British territory. This is a work which must be, and, we believe, will be accomplished speedily, although we occasionally meet with people who sneer at the idea as altogether Utopian, and declare that such a road will most certainly never be built during the life time of the present generation. But if peace external and internal be still youch if peace external and therefore to all nar-safed te us, and if, rising superior to all nar-row minded sectarian or sectional jealousies, the people of the Dominion from Halifax to Victoria continue to be united in thought and Victoria continue to be united in thought and feeling and to work together with a common purpose, we believe that within five years we shall see this great work well advanced, and an industrious and contented community sets and in the valleys o North West, where as yet the foot of a white man has scarcely ever trodden."

'Nor Guilty.'-The Port Townsend Argu charges us with having intimated that the United States was jealous of Canada, and then proceeds in doubtful English, and with more than doubtful courtesy, to lecture us for the impropriety. Our only reply is that we never insimated anything of the kind, and if our contemporary is not as incapable of reading Euglish as he appears to be of writing it, a careful persual of the article to which reference is made will fully substantiate our plea of 'not guilty.'

Assault.-Charles Vincent was arranged before the Police Court yesterday on a charge of assaulting Jim a Hydah Indian, by striking him twice in the mouth. The so cused was convicted and lined nve country or in default of payment to suffer one month's imprisonment, bonst of one solitary miner, Robert Haley by name. Haley, at the beginning of winter, packed out a quantity of 'grub,' took up his abode in a deserted cabin, laid in a supply of firewood and hunts and mines by turns—leading a free-and-easy, independent sort of life, many miles away from the sound of any human voice save his own. The dig-gings yield three 'bits' per day; the hunt-ing, as many deer and grouse as he may feel disposed to kill, they being very numerous in that locality. Who wouldn't be a hermit?

THE CANADIAN CANALS,-The Canal Commission, which recently sat at Ottawa, has agreed upon a general policy, the details of which will be laid before the Dominion Parliament. #### Premature Decay of Fruit Trees.

EDITOR BRITISH COLONIST :- Your remarks EDITOR DISTING COLORS: -- Low remarks ovil' as the probable cause of the premature decay of the apple and cherry in this colony, deserves more than a passing remark, and I now snatch a tew minutes from more pressing engagements to make a few random observations thereon. tions thereon.

As you are probably aware, the fungus theory has been largely discussed in the pages of the Gardener's Chronicle, and although the advocaces of the theory have on their side that eminent veteran mycologist, Roy M J Berkely, yet the prependerance of evidence both practical and theoretical is with its opponents.

Fungi of many species luxuriate in decaying vegerable substances, but unless in some personners.

vegetable substances, but unless in some pe-cullar and decided form, never on living, healthy organisms. This view of the case has healthy organisms. This view of the case has either been lost sight of or ignored altogether by the fungus theorists, for, so far as I can make out, they attribute to the mycelium of any ordinary fungus the power of growing into cand destroying the healthy tissues of almost every kind of plant. The evidence they produce in support of this view, however, is not tall convincing for in every instance. I bequee in support of this view, however, is not at all convincing, for in every instance, I believe, the fungoid growth has been found in connection, with decaying portions of the roots of the diseased plants, clearly indicating its presence as a consequence and not the cause of the decay.

Among the various papers on the subject which have appeared in the Gurdener's Chronwhich have appeared in the Gardener's Chron-ide is one from myself, Sept 12th, 1870, and from which 1 beg to offer a few extracts— Whence come the organic matters found in all the fertile soils which clothe the preent surface of the globe, but from decayed vegetable substances? Look at Nature's vegetable substances? Look at Nature's grand workshops, our primæval forests, and beerve how she conducts her operations and how rapidly organised substances are conhow rapidly organized substances are converted into food for the living plants, and we shall look in vain for positive evidence in layer of the 'ungus theory.' * * One generation of living organisms living on the decayed and decaying remains of former generations yearly adding fertility to the coll by their leaves and branches to the and soil by their leaves and branches to the end of all time.

Can the presence then of decaying sticks &c, -woody fibre, in fact be the cause of tangoid decay in living organisms as some of your correspondents assert? Or is not the of your correspondents assert? Or is not the presence of the mycelium of funging the living tissues due to some anterior predisposing cause and which has bitherto escaped the notice of the very respectable advocates of the fungus theory? It we admit the first we set up, as I concieve, a theory against one of the grand laws to greatly by the latter we admit our own of creation, by the latter we admit our own fallibility and the necessity for further and more careful observations.'
This view of the subject is supported by the practice of numbers of French wine growers — especially that of M Corner of Champerion, who not only invariably digs into the soil all the pronings of his vines, not is in the habit of burying immense quantities of faggots of oak and other woods for the purpose of supplying proper food to his vines, and such is the success which has attended this practice that the French Govern ment awarded him a gold medal for the su-perior excellence of his wines. Besides, the daily practice of using decay-ed seaves in the culture of almost every known plant by nine hundred and ninety-nine gardeners in every thousand seems evidence enough to condemn the Fungus Theory.

true cause of the oremature desay of the apple tree from canker in this colony is, in my opinion, due, as I before stated (Jan 19:b) to climatic influences on the vital tunctions of the plants. Everyone who has had any dealings with young fruit trees in this colony cannot have failed to notice, after the rains of autumo have moistened the soil, the ground being then a perfect hot bed, the rapidity with which the plant probed, the rapidity with which the plant produces innomerable young; by the agency of those fibres the whole system of the tree is filled to repletion with sap, crude and undigested and which on account of the absence of foliage—the process of assimilation being probably carried on slowly by suitable or gans in the bark—recrains for several months pretty much in the same aborrmal condition. The consequence which would naturally follow such a state of things is the entire disarrangement of the whole system of the tree, especially that of the more deficate drissnes of the inner bark and sapwood, rendering them susceptible to complete described. dering them susceptible to complete disorganization on the occurrence of sharp frosts. I have noticed that this tendency to disorgamization is greatly increased by a long continuance of wet, sunless weather, accompanied by low temperature.

My past experience in England, where the peach and apricot is sometimes afflicted with canker in almost every respect similar to that of the apple in this colony, confirms me in this view of the case. And if further evidence were necessary, it is supplied in the Gardener's Chronicle for 31st Dec, 1870, by Mr John Scott of Crewkerne, Somersatchire —a nurseryman in extensive business and a writer of some note on fruits. His remedy, on the first appearance of the mischief, is to pare away all the frostbitten outer bark, down to the inner. Supposing my view of the case to be the correct one, it points to the necessity of care in making selection of the warmest and best time not losing sight of the value of a deep, rich, retentive and losing soil, etc, as the recessary accompaniments to future success.

County Court Judges.

EDITOR BRITISH COLONIST,—I observe by a paragraph to your paper of this morning that the Stipendiary Magistrates are to continue to hold the appointment of County Court Judges. It is as you say 'an important matter,' and I am glad to see that the farce is not to be prolonged without further comment by the press. comment by the press.

We are all well aware that in providing for these officials the Governor is only acting in accordance with instructions received from the Secretary for the Colonies. But surely the question of the administration of justice should not be made subservient to their interests, and a system which has been universally condemned ever since the union of the colonies should not be perpetuated merely on account of so-called vested in-

That the Stipendiary Magistrates are not only gentlemen but men of integrity is not questioned. But, consisting as they do of questioned. But, consisting as they do of half-pay officers and country gentlemen, who do not pretend to have made law their study, it is not surprising that some of them should at times have thought they possessed more power than is vested in the Chief Justice as was instanced by the County Court Judge who, last year or the year before, directed that a debt which did not carry interest should carry interest at three per cent per month, and subsequently telegraphed the de-fendant and ordered him to pay the expense of the telegram!

When the colony was in its infancy and professional men were not to be found who would accept the office of a County Court Judge, and it was not probable that any matters but of trifling importance would come before them, it was well that these gentlemen should be appointed County Court Judges; but that which was tolerated then has now not only become intolerable but unjustiable, barristers of the standing of Messrs Ring. Wood and Walker naving Messrs Ring, Wood and Walker naving been allowed to leave the colony without any attempt to gain their services as County Court Judges. I hope however, the matter will not now be allowed to rest until we have professional men appointed to these Judge-ships, and if there not a sufficient number here who are cupable of filling the duties of such Judges and willing to accept the ap-

The Northern Pacific Railroad.

This second highway across the continent is now in full process of construction. We have been furnished with the following across the continued with the contin count of its condition, which will doubtless be interesting to many of our readers:

Last July contracts were let for the building of the castern division, reaching across the State of Minnesota from Duluh at the bead of Lake uperior, 240 miles to the crossing of the Rad River of the North. With several thousand men employed, the grading on this section is fast approaching completion and the iron is being laid at the rate of two miles a day. In the meantime engineers are locating the line westward through central Dakota. Preparations are completed for the commercement of work at the Pacific end next Spring, and thereafter the work of construction will be prosecuted from both extremities toward the centre. In addition to this the Northern Pacific Com pany have recently purchased and practically consolidated with their own line the St Pau and Pacific Railroad, embracing some three bundrad miles of finished road in Minnesota, on which a prosperous business is already doing. This purchase removes all rivalry between conflicting interests and practically makes St Paul one terminus of the grea

The Northern Pacific Railroad system is certainly assuming a business-like form and comprehensive proportions. Obviously its projectors do not intend to build a simple trunk road from East to West and then wait for a profitable traffic io come to it. On the contrary they are at the outset securing such connections and alliances with the chief lines of water communication and with the railroad systems of the Atlantic and Pacific States as cannot fail to bring to it, in addition to its local business a large and increasing share of the carrying trade between ocean and ocean. At Duluth one arm meets the commerce of the lakes and the St Lawrence, at St Paul the other eletern arm con-nects with the commerce of the Missistippi River and its tributaries and with the railroads of the central and eastern States concentrating as Chicago. These two arms will unit in western Minnesota. From the point of junction a third branch will extend to Pembins on the British border, and the trunk line will traverse central Dakota follow the now lamous Yellowstone Valley through Montana. Near the boundary of Idaho the road will again branch—one arm following the valley of the Columbia to ide-water at Portland, Oregon, the other striking directly across the Cascade range to the main terminus on Peget Sound. A north and south branch will also connect the Peget Sound terminus with that at Portland. At the latter point con-section is made with the cosst lines of road now building northward through Oregon and Caltornia. Both at Portland and Puget Sound the road will tap the constwise and foreign trade of the Pacific Ocean, With its munificent endowment of tertile lands, with the natural advantages this route undoubtedly enjoys and with the far-sighted policy already adopted a great commercial enterprise could hardly start under better anepices or with greater assurance of success.

INCIDENT OF LORIS NAPOLEON'S BOYHOOD. Max Ring, the German author, has published a book entitled 'Louis Napoleon Bonaparte,' in which he gives the following ancodote of the early years of the ex-Emperor—When a very little fellow he used to pass or his way to school a blacksmith's shop, a ounc which he sometimes loitered. One day he made the discovery that the blacksmith wa made the discovery that the blacksmith was long iron rod, ione end of which was generally left sticking in the lorge that it might be drawn out red hot for this purpose. This gave Louis a bright idea, and watching for a favorable opportunity, he drew the rod out of the fire and replaced it with the hot end left sticking out as that when the smith releft sticking out, so that when the smith re-turned after an absence of a few second and unconscious of the change took hold of the rod to draw it out of the fire to light hi pipe as usual, he burned his hand badly. His exclamation of pain and surprise was re-sponded to by a burst of uncontrollable laughter from the irrepressible Louis who had hidden bimself away somewhere to en-joy the success of his nice little practical joke and who thus despite of himself reveal-ed his secret and his hiding place. The can he sorte and his hidre place. The consequence was that he received the best besting that he probably ever had in his life (Sedan excepted) from the old emith, whose name was Mayer and who is still living and
